

Tufts Career Center FAQ of the Week

Can I work at the same camp or go back to the same internship for one more year?

You can certainly go back to the same place again. What we'd encourage you to think about, though, is how your experience will be different the second time around. Ideally, you'll be taking on additional responsibilities and developing new skills. If this is not the case, consider talking to your supervisor about ways that you could add extra challenges to your position.

If you're weighing options and want objective feedback, talk to a Career Advisor. We can help you outline the pros/cons of various opportunities.
